Healthpointe is Now Offering Medical Internships and Training for Undergrad and Graduate Students

Healthpointe will assist future medical students in gaining hands-on clinical training to advance their careers.

La Mirada, CA (PRWEB) October 27, 2015

Healthpointe is excited to announce that they are now providing hands-on clinical training to future medical physicians, nurses, physical therapists and more. Healthpointe provides a wealth of training and volunteer opportunities for individuals interested in obtaining a career in the medical field.

The three-month internship program prepares undergraduates and graduate students in clinical competence and is designed to assist individuals in their transition from student to clinical practice, such as orthopedics. The program will consist of one-on-one mentoring and training throughout the entire length of the program. Rotations will also be offered to enhance the knowledge of care and diagnostic design in a clinical setting.

Arrangements are customized for each individual student and based on mentor availability and department acceptance. The internship is well suited for those who are committed in the medical field with huge opportunities for students seeking careers in the fields of physical therapy, orthopedic care, chiropractic care, acupuncture, neurosurgery, clinical psychology and more. Additionally, students who are studying kinesiology, biology, nursing, anatomy and nutrition can also intern at Healthpointe. All internships are located in Southern California.

Students may visit Healthpointe's La Mirada corporate office for more information on how to gain hands-on clinical training. Students may also contact Healthpointe at 714-824-5580 or visit our website at healthpointe.net.
